INCIDENT NEAR HUNGJAO AERODROME

TEXTILE QUOTAS

Proof Of Orders Booked

With reference to the Secretary of State's concession as to temporary exemption of locally-manufactured piece-goods from quotas legislation, the Hong Kong Government has arranged with the Hong Kong General Chamber of Commerce for the Chamber to organise an examination of manufacturers' and exporters' records by accountants.

The reason for this is that firms are required to prove that orders for exempted goods (which must be shipped before the end of October) were definitely placed before July 7. Those who desire to submit such proofs must notify the Chamber of Commerce not later than to-morrow.

THE NOTIFICATION

The text of the Government notification is as follows:—

The Secretary of State for the Colonies has intimated that he has requested the British Empire Countries concerned that piece-goods, the final manufacturing processes of which have taken place in Hong Kong, shall be exempt from the "spin, woven and finished" clause under Textile Quotas legislation in those countries. If the goods are shipped before the 31st October, 1937, provided they are accompanied by a Government certificate that they were ordered before the 7th July, 1937. The following conditions to be complied with by those desiring such certificates are published for information:

Manufacturers and Exporters who claim exemption for piece-goods as having been ordered before the 7th July 1937, must notify the Secretary of the Hong Kong General Chamber of Commerce, Chartered Bank Building, Hong Kong, within 48 hours of the date of this notice, giving particulars of the orders in respect of which they claim exemption.

The Chamber of Commerce will then arrange for a scrutiny by accountants of all documents necessary to prove that goods as aforesaid were in fact ordered before the 7th July 1937. The Government certificate will be issued only to firms which have complied with these instructions and whose records have satisfied the accountants as to the dates orders were booked.

CHINESE ASKED TO OFFER SERVICES

War-Time Preparations

A call to Chinese residents in Shanghai for war-time service was made by the All-Shanghai Association for the Support of Armed Resistance, organized by numerous public bodies, states the "North China Daily News." Every able-bodied Chinese has been urged to register with the Association at the Public Recreation Ground, Nantao, without delay.

A set of seven measures has been mapped out by the Association. Aimed at the concentration of strength, the measures call for the organization of nine service corps, namely, peace and order maintenance, publicity, engineering, communications, transportation, first aid, fire-prevention, burial and contributions-canvassing.

All those who register with the Association will be examined as to their physical fitness. They will then be enlisted in the corps which best suit them. One of the rules governing the enrolment of citizens with these corps is absolute obedience to the commander.

ANTI-AIR CORPS

In anticipation of Japanese air raids, an anti-air corps has been organized under the auspices of local philanthropic organizations. Elaborate preparations are also being made by the China First Aid Association in view of the existing tension.

According to a message from Nanking, Mr. Aw Boon-haw and his brother had wired the Government, offering to contribute $30,000 for the care of wounded soldiers in the north. The money was reported to have been sent to the capital.

Creation Of Small Jewish State In Palestine Is Suggested

Zurich, August 9.

The creation of a small Jewish State in Palestine will be the means of rapidly developing the strength of the Jewry in the world, said the Palestine delegate, Ben Gurion, in a speech at to-day's sitting of the Zionist Congress. For this reason the speaker recommended opening negotiations with the British Government on the basis of the Royal Commission's report.

The new State, according to the speaker, would modify the whole position of Jewry since the Jewish State from the legal standpoint would be vested with the same rights as the great power.

The speaker went on to say that he attached decisive importance to the possibility of bringing 1,500,000 Jews to Palestine within the next fifteen years. If this possibility was to be realised the Jewish population would outnumber the whole of the Arab population west and east of the Jordan.

The New York Rabbi asked that the Congress reject the Royal Commission's proposals. The debate is expected to be closed on Tuesday as Dr. O. Weissmann stated that he must leave for Geneva.—

JAPANESE MARINE OFFICER KILLED: BLUEJACKET REPORTED MISSING

CHINESE MILITIAMAN ALSO FATALLY WOUNDED

SHANGHAI, AUGUST 9: A SINO-JAPANESE INCIDENT IS REPORTED TO HAVE OCCURRED NEAR HUNGJAO AERODROME ON THE WESTERN OUTSKIRTS OF SHANGHAI.

DETAILS ARE NOT AVAILABLE BUT ACCORDING TO AN UNCONFIRMED REPORT ONE CHINESE AND ONE JAPANESE WERE KILLED.

ACCORDING TO A CHINESE REPORT THE SHOOTING OCCURRED FOLLOWING AN ALTERCATION BETWEEN SOME CHINESE MILITIAMEN AND TWO JAPANESE TRAVELLING IN A MOTOR-CAR. WHOLESALE WITHDRAWAL OF JAPANESE RESIDENTS

Tokyo: The wholesale withdrawal of Japanese residents from Wuchang, Hankow, Changsha, Kinkiang, Chinkiang and other towns on the Yangtze River has been completed under the escort of Japanese gunboats and they are now concentrated in Shanghai for shipment home according to an official report. A Nanking message says that this unprecedented measure has apparently shocked the Chinese authorities who see in it the manifestation of the gravity of the situation and firm determination of the Japanese Government to pursue its fixed policy.

The spokesman of the Japanese Foreign Office, however, declared that the action of the Japanese Government in ordering the Japanese residents to evacuate from the Yangtze Valley was prompted by a desire not to aggravate the situation because of any untoward event which may easily cause the outbreak of a serious incident.

It is understood the Japanese Ambassador, Mr. Kawagoe may possibly have conversations with Government leaders but it is not known whether he will enter into formal negotiations with the Nanking Government. It is also understood that the Japanese Government cabled no fresh instructions to Mr. Kawagoe. The spokesman added that settlement of the North China incident on the spot would be realised if the successor to General Sung Cheh Yuan executed in full the terms of the local agreements of July 11 and July 19. He recalled that part of the agreement had already been observed by General Sung himself. Admiral Yonai was given and audience this afternoon by the Emperor to whom he reported the China Situation. Prior to the audience Admiral Yonai conferred with Naval members of the War Council.

Two thousand two hundred Japanese residents who were concentrated in the Legation quarter of Peking since July 27 returned to their respective homes this morning with the entry of Japanese troops commanded by Major-General Kawabe yesterday according to a Peking message. General Kawabe in a statement said the Japanese troops entered Peking to maintain peace and order, declaring that the Japanese troops regard Chinese troops as foes but had no intention of antagonising the law abiding Chinese people.—

Shanghai, August 9: All units of the Japanese Yangtze Fleet are concentrating in Shanghai. The Japanese destroyers Tsuga and Kuri arrived this morning.—

HOSTILITIES IMMINENT

Tokyo: Events of the past month are considered here to have greatly aggravated the situation in North China and it is feared that the struggle is likely to be protracted, and on a large scale. Now that the Japanese communities have evacuated from the Yangtze Valley and Sino-Japanese relations virtually severed, hostilities are expected to open in the course of the week. According to the Nanking correspondent of the "Nichi Nichi" the Japanese Embassy staff decided at a conference that it would be useless for Mr. Kawagoe to go to Nanking as no peaceful settlement by diplomatic negotiations is possible in view of the present conditions. Mr. Kawagoe, therefore, will not visit Nanking for some time.—
Reuters.

IMMEDIATE DECISION NECESSARY

Nanking, Aug. 8.
Defining the Chinese Government's attitude should Mr. Kawagoe desire to open negotiations, a Foreign Office spokesman said that there was no objection as long as diplomatic negotiations had not been broken off and added that Sino-Japanese relations had reached such a critical stage that the issue of peace or war would have to be determined almost at once.—

DR. CHOU LOU IN NANKING

Nanking, Aug. 9.
Dr. Chou Lou, Kuomintang leader and president of Sun Yat-sen University in Canton, arrived here this morning by train from Shanghai and was received by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, President of the Executive Yuan and Chairman of the Military Affairs Commission, who acquainted his civilian colleague with his military plans in resisting aggression.

Denouncing the destruction of the Nankai University by Japanese bombs, Dr. Chou stressed that Japan is out, not only to swallow China but also to commit vandalism against world civilization. He announced his support of the views and plans of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Anti-aircraft guns are mounted to-day in strategic points here following the Japanese threat to bomb the capital from the air by a squadron somewhere near Nanking.—
Union News.

REPORT CAUSES AMUSEMENT

Shanghai, Aug. 9.
Shanghai residents had a good laugh at the report published by the Shanghai Mainichi, local Japanese paper, saying that General Ho Ying-ching, Minister of War, and Mr. Wang Ching-wei, Chairman of the Central Political Council, were assassinated in Nanking because of their difference of views with regard to Japan.

An official denial has been issued by the Central News Agency. Mr. Shigeru Kawagoe, Japanese Ambassador to China, had a lengthy conference with Mr. Shimokuro Hidaka, Counsellor of the Japanese Embassy in Nanking, and other Japanese diplomatic officials here. Mr. Hidaka gave a report of his meeting in Nanking with Mr. Chen Chieh, Vice-Minister of Foreign Affairs.

It is learned that Ambassador Kawagoe will proceed to Nanking to-morrow for a settlement of the North China issues through diplomatic channels. This explains the full in the North China fighting since last Friday.—

JAPANESE PREPARATIONS

Fighting has ceased in the Nanking front. Both sides are awaiting re-inforcements.

Some hundreds of Japanese chemists have left Fengtai for Peking and Suifu, and it is believed that fighting on a big scale will soon break out.—

WHO'S WHO In The North China Conflict

The careers of chief personalities in the present conflict in North China are briefly described below:—
Chiang Kai-shek, who practically controls the Government of China (his office is that of President of the Executive Yuan), has done much to build up the strength of its fighting forces. He studied military science in Japan as a youth, and fought with the revolutionists for Sun Yat-sen. During the great national uprising of 1926-27, his command captured Hankow and occupied Shanghai and Nanking, and he showed his political genius through the use of political propaganda with the masses. He is married to Madame Sun Yat-sen's sister.

Chiang Kai-shek

General Sung Cheh-yuan formerly chairman of the Hopen and Chahar Political Council, is in his early fifties and is described as an old-fashioned war lord. He won renown with his countrymen by his valiant defence of the Hsienkung Pass during the Japanese invasion of Jehol in the spring of 1933. When the Japanese passed beyond Jehol the position of the northern provinces of China became difficult, and the Hopen-Chahar Political Council was created. Its attitude towards the Japanese, however, was obscure, as Sung was sometimes in relations with the invading Japanese, sometimes with Nanking, and for some time he has

CENTRAL COURT CASES

False Report To Police

Scratching himself round the neck and body, Tam Man gave a false report to the police that he had been robbed. The defendant appeared in Court before Mr. Schofield yesterday charged with larceny by servant a sum of $51.95 the property of Kiu Lee, contractor, and giving false reports that he was robbed.

Inspector Darkin said that on August 5, Kiu Lee gave the above sum to the defendant to purchase food as he was the cook for the camp. The defendant did not return and went to the Wanchai Police Station and reported that he was robbed of the above amount by somebody.

The message of the robbery was circulated to all stations but on investigation the story was found to be false. The defendant was further questioned and it was revealed that he had given the money to a clansman from whom he had borrowed $200 some time ago.

Inspector Darkin requested his Worship to take a serious view of the case.

His Worship imposed a fine of $51.95 or six weeks' hard labour and an extra six weeks for the larceny charge while on the second charge the defendant was fined $200 or another three months hard labour.

STOLE FROM HIS MOTHER

A man who had always demanded money from his mother was brought to book when he tried his trick once too often. The defendant, Chau Fui, appeared before Mr. K. Keen yesterday and was charged with larceny of 17 Chinese story books from his mother at No. 33 Tung Street. Sergeant Sullivan stated that the defendant was a bad character and always demanded money from his aged mother. If she could not meet with his demands he would take whatever there was in the house. She was employed to look after a Chinese story book library and defendant stole the books when his mother could not meet his demands.

His Worship sentenced him to two months.

HE LOST HIS WAY

After having lost his way, a youth tried to find it back by walking along the Peak Tram Line with a result that he was nearly run over by an on-coming tram.

The lad, Tong Fui, aged 16, appeared before Mr. K. Keen yesterday charged with trespassing on the Peak Tramway's property. The prosecution stated that the boy was in the employ of the Colonial Dispensary. On August 7, he was given a parcel to deliver at Magazine Gap. When the defendant got to May Road he lost his way so he began to walk along the track. A tram rounded a bend and a brakeman shouted to the defendant to lie on the tracks. He would have been killed but for the sharp eyes of the driver who applied the brakes and stopped the car in time.

In answer to the charge the defendant pleaded ignorance. His Worship imposed a small fine of $10.

U.S. SEAMAN IN TROUBLE

While on shore leave an American first class seaman had a few intoxicating drinks and behaved in a disorderly manner. The seaman, William George De Baun, appeared before Mr. Schofield yesterday, charged with assaulting Cheung Kiu-ng and Nagato Sano, a Japanese woman, in Jaffee Road. An additional charge of acting in a disorderly manner at Wanchai on August 7 was also preferred. The defendant denied the first charge but admitted the second.

The facts of the case given by Inspector Darkin were that on Saturday the defendant was coming down a staircase in Jaffee Road. The Japanese woman was standing outside her residence and the defendant came up to her and punched her on the nose. After striking the woman he went along Jaffee Road and at the junction of Luard Road he grabbed a Chinese male by the back. Defendant was arrested a short time after this adventure.

Defendant in the witness box said that a Chinese male asked him if he wanted a woman to which he gave an affirmative reply. When he came down he stated that he was not very sober so he did not know what took place. His Worship remarked that the defendant may have mistaken the first complainant for some other person, so he was found

CATEGORY OF HEROISM

Echo To C.N.A.C. Plane Disaster

THREE MEN STILL MISSING

But for the presence of mind on the part of the skillful pilot, Captain Ed. Smith, a much more disastrous accident might have occurred to the ill-fated China National Aviation Corporation plane, Chekiang, when she overturned in a forced landing off Chikang Point Lighthouse on Sunday, owing to unfavourable weather and bad visibility.

An intensive search is being continued by the Chinese Maritime Customs cruiser, Hohsing, for the three missing members of the crew, their names being G. Orhrnberger, Russian co-pilot; N. A. Chen, wireless operator; and F. H. Chen, steward.

Little hope is held out for the safety of the three missing men, though it is thought to be just possible that they were picked up by a sampan and landed elsewhere than Chikang Point.

The survivors were taken to Chikang Point Lighthouse where they were later transferred to the Hohsing.

THRACIAN'S SEARCH

In an exclusive interview on board H.M.S. Thracian yesterday with Lt.-Commander E. B. Tancock, Commanding Officer of the Thracian, the revelation of the difficulty of transferring the survivors, from the Hohsing to the Thracian, apart from the obvious care to be taken in handling the injured, on a heavy sea was disclosed.

The Thracian left Hong Kong at 1.20 p.m. on Sunday, and at 5.45 p.m. arrived at Chikang Point where she met the Hohsing and another Chinese Maritime Customs cruiser. They set off in different directions, and after several hours of fruitless searching, the Thracian received a wireless message from the Hohsing to the effect that eight survivors were rescued.

At 1 a.m. yesterday at a place seven miles north of Chikang Point the transfer of the survivors from the Hohsing to the Thracian took place, immediately after which the Thracian left for Hong Kong where she arrived at 6.45 a.m.

FIVE INJURED

Five of the passengers were injured, but only three were detained on being sent to Queen Mary Hospital. It is feared that Captain Smith, most seriously injured, may be suffering from internal injuries. Mr. Chia had a badly cut hand.

Of the three detained in hospital, Capt. Smith is suffering from a cut hand and bruises, Mr. Wong Tan-pao, from cuts and head injuries and Mr. Hsia Teh-pa from a bruised and cut arm which is possibly sprained.

Mr. Chen Yi and Mr. Chai Kien-fun received medical attention on arrival but were not detained.

The only European passenger, Mr. Walsh, an employee of the Kwangtung Government, was not hurt.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT

An official statement issued by the China National Aviation Corporation yesterday is as follows:—

"The C.N.A.C. plane, Chekiang, took off from Hong Kong at 9.05 a.m. with Captain Ed. Smith in command. About ninety miles north-east of Hong Kong, just off Chikang Point, the plane encountered heavy rain squalls and a dense foggy condition. After circling to attempt to return to Hong Kong, it was found that the weather had closed in behind. It was impossible to proceed in any direction, and therefore necessary to land."

"After instructing the passengers to fasten their safety belts, the pilot circled over Chikang Lighthouse in heavy rain preparatory to landing. When the ship was landed, it bounced over several ground swells and was caught in a trough between two waves and overturned."

ROBBING A CHILD

Chan Tsang-kam, 19, unemployed, appeared before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday charged with stealing a rattan bangle from a 5-year-old child who was in the care of Chen Sun, at Canton Road on July 27.

It was alleged that defendant when passing the spot picked up the child and carried her up to a stairway where he stripped the bangle from her leg. Chen Sun, at the meantime, raised the alarm which roused the attention of a few passers-by who gave chase.

Defendant denied the charge saying that the bangle was given to him by the child herself. His Worship remanded the case for 24 hours during which the passers-by will be called to give evidence of arrest.

SOLICITOR'S CLERK FINED

The case in which William Wong, a solicitor's clerk, who claimed to be a lawyer of Wilkinson and Grist, and who was charged with obstructing Sergt. Pennell in the execution of his duty was continued before Mr. Thomson, at the Central Magistracy yesterday.

It will be recalled that Wong was alleged to have obstructed the officer at Pedder Street on July 29.

The Crown was represented by Mr. M. J. Abbott, Assistant Crown Solicitor, while Wong was defended by Mr. D. S. Blake of Messrs Wilkinson and Grist.

Evidence was again given by Sergeant Pennell to the effect that the driver of the car in which the defendant was a passenger was stopped by him after they had manoeuvred it into the Pedder Street park in a reckless manner.

Witness reiterated that Wong spoke to him in an aggressive manner and that he tolerated it for five minutes, but when Wong tried to prevent him from doing his duty he arrested him.

Sergeant Clarke in the witness box testified that on July 29, Sergeant Pennell and Wong were in the charge-room at about 11.30 p.m. He said that on the instructions of Sergeant Pennell he charged the defendant. On hearing the charge Wong said "You can't do that; I'm a solicitor's clerk. I'll have you taken to the I.G.P." After the statement was written Sergeant Clarke read it over and at the same time the defendant began his abusive remarks.

Mr. Blake submitted that Sergeant Pennell was making a mountain out of an ant-hill. He admitted that his client spoke more than necessary, but denied that Wong had spoken to Pennell in an aggressive manner. Mr. Blake went on to say that the cross-summons against Sergeant Pennell had been withdrawn.

Mr. Abbott submitted that it was the duty of a police officer to warn any driver whom he thought was not driving in a cautious manner.

His Worship found the defendant guilty and a fine of $25 was imposed.

THE WORLD'S STOMACH REMEDY

CHINESE APPEALS TO WAR VETERANS

HOPEI PINNED TO WORLD DEMOCRACIES

A moving appeal to "our brothers in Europe" was made by the Chinese General Fang Chen-wu in the Bois de Vincennes, Paris, recently before an enormous gathering, assembled on the anniversary of the declaration of the Great War by the Union of Associations for Peace.

The French Minister of Education, M. Jean Zay, and the Under-Secretary for Physical Education, M. Leo Lagrange, were patrons of the occasion, which was preceded in the morning by a number of sporting events just outside the city of Paris.

China's disillusionment in the League of Nations and her hope that the League and the democracies of the world might yet intervene to help her in her battle against Japanese aggression were described by General Fang, who spoke in Chinese which was interpreted into French.

"The right against the exploiter of war is one of the reasons for the existence of the Chinese Army," he declared. He himself was a commander in the Kuomintang in 1926 and in 1933 joined with General Feng Yu-hsiang to organize an anti-Japanese army in Chahar with which he fought the Japanese for several months.

"China's hope in the League of Nations has been deceived; the Geneva organization absolved Japan utterly in her criminal piece of work in Manchuria. But notwithstanding all this, we still have confidence in the League, just as we have confidence in world democracy.

NOT THE SAME CHINA

"The China which has been attacked to-day," General Fang

continued, "is not the same as she was in 1931. Japan is greatly mistaken on that point. We have an army of two million men, modern equipment, a thousand fighting planes and a people of 450,000,000 united and ready to die for the liberation of the nation.

"Victory must come to us. The Chinese Army is an army of justice and peace. Furnish it with arms! This victory will be yours."

Sustained applause greeted this speech, which was followed by orations from a number of French and British statesmen.

The keynote of the address made by Sir Herbert Samuel, former Liberal Minister in the British Cabinet, was preparedness and the importance of close co-operation among the democratic governments.

"Peace and liberty must possess forces to ensure their defence," he insisted. "It is useless for the sheep to adopt resolutions in favour of a vegetarian diet if the wolf has another opinion on the subject."

The British people, he said, were profoundly convinced that "the peace and tranquillity of the world depend on the rapprochement and close co-operation of the great western democracies, France, Britain, the United States, combined with Russia."

The same theme was taken up by M. Gueden, spokesman for M. Joseph Paul-Boncour and the Association for the League of Nations. "It is not peoples who hate each other, but governments who will not let them love each other."

Numerous other speakers from different countries appeared on the programme. The meeting broke up late in the afternoon in the midst of general enthusiasm.

LESSONS OF GRESFORD DISASTER

New Safety Regulations

Drastic measures are to be taken by the Mines Department to "tighten up" the regulation and inspection of coal mining in this country as a result of the Gresford Colliery disaster.

In the House of Commons recently Captain Crookshank, Secretary for Mines, announced that 16 additional inspectors of mines were to be appointed, primarily to increase the amount of afternoon and night shift inspection.

New draft regulations were issued by the Mines Department for consideration by the industry which:

1. Lay down new and more stringent standards for the amount of combustible matter which may be permitted in dust lying in coal workings.
2. Prescribes new standards for the incombustible dust introduced to minimise explosion risk.
3. Provides for tests at not less than monthly intervals (with certain exceptions) of the normal composition of floor dust, and also dust from the roof and sides.

New fire-fighting regulations are also proposed. Telephone and signalling equipment, wherever safety lamps are used, is to be of a type approved by the Board of Trade for safety in regard to inflammable gas.

PUNCH AND JUDY SHOWMAN DEAD

Oldest Of A Dwindling Band

Mr. James Wright, who claimed to be the oldest Punch and Judy showman in England, has died at the age of 77. With him, unless someone comes forward to buy it, will pass yet another of the "Punch Theatres" which have delighted children for generations, but are now passing out of favour.

"Mr. Wright had played before the King and Queen when they were young several times," his eldest son said. "He performed at Balmoral, Buckingham Palace and at Windsor, as well as at fairs and private parties all over the country."

"But I'm afraid we are not in the profession," and my brother and I will be forced to destroy the theatre. You see, no one wants

AMERICAN EVANGELIST OPENS MISSION

A large crowd greeted Clifford Lewis, of Montgomery, Ala., U.S.A., Sunday evening at the St. Andrews Church Hall, 138 Nathan Road, Kowloon, for the first service of the district-wide Evangelistic Mission. Another large crowd attended last night.

Rev. R. M. Clemmer, a Missionary from Kwangsi Province is directing the singing. Mr. Clemmer has had considerable experience in song leading, both in America and in other countries. Special musical numbers will be rendered by the choir and other musicians during the services.

This is one of a great number of missions being conducted by Mr. Lewis who is touring the world. He is known as the outstanding young Evangelist of America and has probably spoken to as many people as any minister his age in the world. His messages have been given to thousands of High School, College, and University students in several countries. He has also conducted Gospel programmes over about one hundred Radio stations.

The topic, "Consecrated Backbones" will be discussed to-night. Delegations are expected to attend the service from in and around the city and a prize will be given the leader of the largest delegation. To-morrow night's subject will be, "Millions now Living are already Dead." The subject announced for Thursday night is, "The Old-Time Religion—Will it fit this modern age?" "Life's Greatest Question" will be discussed on Friday evening.

A special service is conducted daily at 5.30 p.m. in the Emmanuel Mission Church in Nathan Road. These inter-denominational services close on next Sunday evening and everybody is urged to attend them all.

them nowadays as children seem to be going to the cinema and places like that."

Dog Toby has already been given away to a well-wisher who will give him a good home. The fate of Punch, Judy, the Policeman, and other characters hangs in the balance.

"My father was born at Spitalfields and trained to be a juggler," continued Mr. Wright, junior. "One of his acts in market places was to catch a potato in a leather cap fastened to his forehead when it was thrown hard from a distance. But as he grew older he had to give that trick up and began playing Punch and Judy instead."

SYDNEY TO "GO GAY"

ANNIVERSARY PLANS

Sydney, where the 150th anniversary celebrations of Australia's foundation are being celebrated, early next year, is planning to outdo Paris and Chicago in gaiety. Already £12,200 has been allocated for the decoration of public buildings alone, and £3,500 for the illumination of the famous harbour bridge. Commemorative pavilions for housing an exhibition will cost a further £150,000.

Apart from the Empire Games, which will begin in February, thousands of pounds are being contributed in prize money for other competitive events and for the organisation of Venetian carnivals, special turf meetings, surf displays, the largest Royal Show that has ever been held in the Empire, and provincial celebrations.

An unusual event will be an angling championship for big-game fish. A trophy valued at £500 will go to the angler who secures the heaviest swordfish, broadbill, black marlin, blue pointer, or mako shark. Another trophy of £100 and a third of £50 will go to the woman landing the heaviest fish and the heaviest shark respectively.

PRINCESSES IN THE PALACE GUIDES

When Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret become a Girl Guide and a Brownie respectively in the autumn, they will be the original members of the 1st Buckingham Palace Troop of the Girl Guides.

Equipment for the new troop, which is being formed by the Princesses and their friends, arrived at the Palace. A big handcart, painted in the dark blue of the Guides, with an inscription in gold—"Girl Guides 1st Buckingham Palace Troop," was wheeled in.

The two Princesses had an exciting time inspecting the equipment.

"Second Sight" Of The Blind

Laboratory Tests With Packs Of Cards

Do blind persons have second sight? The answer to this question has been sought in experiments conducted in the laboratory by Dr. J. B. Rhine Duke, of the university of Durham, North Carolina. The results showed that the belief that the blind "possess some unusual way of knowing" has some apparent justification.

Blind persons tested for the first time for "second sight" exceeded the scores made by those who could see.

The tests involved the identification of cards, and the results exceeded pure chance by the mathematical figure, 10 to the 54th power to one.

Sixty blind or nearly blind persons were tested. None of the nearly blind could read quarter-inch type one foot from their eyes.

They called the faces of the cards, 25 in each pack. Getting five right in a pack is "pure chance"—they averaged nearly six.

This record was made when they called the cards as another person looked at the pack. This suggests the possibility of telepathy. But these blind people made a still better score when they called cards none had seen.

For telepathy their average score was 5.69 correct calls per pack; for "second sight" it was 5.81 correct. During "telepathy" the packs were called 2,024 times, in "second sight" 911 times.

ROYAL LAUNCHES

The official announcement that the King has approved of the naming ceremony and launch of the cruiser Gloucester being performed by the Duchess of Gloucester at Devonport on October 19 next serves to bring to mind how comparatively rare Royal launches of warships have been of late years. It has been suggested that this is attributable to the fact that so few ships worthy of such distinction have been built, but whatever else the reason may be this seems scarcely a likely explanation.

The two battleships Nelson and Rodney and 10,000-ton cruisers of the "Devonshire" class can scarcely be termed insignificant vessels. One thing is quite certain, that the comparative rarity of Royal launches has been in no way due to any lack of interest in such occasions. It is probable that the putting afloat of the Gloucester will mark a period of more activity in this interesting direction, since there are now great ships on the stocks, some of them bearing Royal names, which at least appeal to the fancy as worthy of such an honour as a Royal send-off.

COMMONS POSTMASTER DEAD

The death occurred recently of Mr. H. J. O. Berry, for many years Postmaster at the House of Commons. Mr. Berry was walking in the street at Wood Green when he collapsed and died almost immediately.

Another explanation of why Rome wasn't built in a day is that Signor Mussolini wasn't born then.

Selected for the part because of his resemblance to Warner Oland, Layne Tom, Jr., nine-year-old Chinese boy, is cast as the "number two" son of the famous Charlie Chan film which is showing at the Queen's Theatre to-day.

The youngster's ambition to be a policeman some day was given increased impetus with his role in the film, in which he helps his "father" in his most interesting and difficult case—the apprehension of a desperate ring of international spies intent on seizing a secret airplane radio-control device and the solution of a series of murders connected with their attempts.

In characteristic fashion Chan makes haste slowly, carefully building up his case from the meagre clues that almost always escape everyone else, until finally the criminals are tricked into self-exposure.

Katherine de Mille, Pauline Moore, Allan Lane, Keye-Luke, C. Henry Gordon are in the cast supporting Warner Oland.

IT PASSED THE CENSOR

Strong comments were made in London papers on a film entitled "Romance in Paris," which in its American showing was called, "The King and the Chorus Girl," comments the "Malaya Tribune."

The leading part was taken by a young man named Ferdinand Gravel, who is said to bear a striking resemblance to the Duke of Windsor and, according to the critic, "apes the mannerisms which we have associated with the Duke."

"I am certain," says this critic, "that no British audience will see this film without feeling most uncomfortable. It is satire on British monarchy, and satire that is in bad taste, an unkind and unjust slur on a man who, as our Prince and our King, was revered and loved. The censor, Lord Tyrrell, passed the film for general showing. I, for one, feel that it should never have been passed."

Later it was announced that the film had been withdrawn from exhibition in Great Britain.

The picture has been passed for exhibition in Malaya. We are informed by Amalgamated Theatres, Ltd., that it will not be shown at their theatres.

POLO JOE

Joe E. Brown—king of the laugh-makers—is at the King's Theatre to-day in his newest Warner Bros. comedy hit, "Polo Joe."

Joe has been almost everything in the sport world—prize fighter, racer, circus clown, high jumper, bike rider, hooper, acrobat—and now he comes as a synthetic polo player. Again he portrays the meek soul who tries to cover his fright at his own limitations by insisting that they don't exist. He finds it necessary to pretend great prowess at polo, though he has never been on a horse and gets his of sneezing whenever he gets near one.

CLEAN FILMS PAY MOST

CANADIAN CENSORS CRITICISE BRITISH FILMS

America makes better "British" films than Great Britain, according to the Ontario Board of Motion Picture Censors.

"There have been several notable films recently dealing with British history and literature," the board states in its annual report. "But the board notes a strange paradox—the best 'British' films are 'American made'."

Mr. O. J. Silverthorne, Chairman of the Board, expresses "regret" as he reports that of 127 British films submitted during the year, cuts were necessary in 31 or 24.4 (24 point 4) per cent of the total of 2,107 pictures submitted from all sources. It is declared, only 17.5 (17 point 5) per cent required deletions.

"The Board suggests," says Mr. Silverthorne, "that this may be due to the fact that the British producers have not had years of experience as have those in the United States, and apparently those years of experience have taught producers that clean films pay best."

UNKIND CRITICISM

"A little unkind," is the comment of Mr. Walter Hayner, importer of British films, on the censors' criticism of British films.

"Can Mr. Silverthorne have overlooked such films as 'Henry VIII,' 'Lord Tweedsmuir's' 'Thirty-Nine Steps,' 'Sunshine Susy,' 'Sanders of the River' or 'The Scarlet Pimpernel' demanded Mr. Hayner. 'These pictures at least were most generously received by the American press along with many others of British origin.'

"Also, with the exception of one or two films that overlapped sex matters from our Canadian standpoint, I cannot recall any drastic cutting of British films over the past few months," Mr. Hayner added. "Here, in a British Dominion, it would be a happy thing to see British productions given encouragement, particularly in view of the fact that the industry in Great Britain has experienced some severe setbacks of late."

FILM DIRECTOR IN SINGAPORE

To Make "Boo-oo"

Mr. Clyde E. Elliott, the well-known director-adventurer, who planned and filmed "Bring Em Back Alive," with Mr. Frank Buck a few years ago, is in Singapore, again to make a native film in Perak, for Paramount. He arrived from America with Mr. Colin Tapley, who will be the only "white man" cast in the new film, "Boo-oo," which means "fear and feathers," is the name of the film. It is not an animal picture in any sense of the word, but a story of native love and adventure.

In an interview with the Tribune soon after the vessel's arrival, Mr. Elliott said he was in search of a young Malay couple for the romantic lead in the film. It was unnecessary that the girl be of pure Malay descent, but must have a good figure and speak English fluently.

They would stay about five weeks in Singapore "in search for beauty" and would later proceed to Northern Perak where the picture is to be made. He was expecting the technicians and cameramen in a fortnight's time by the Tatsuta Maru.

TWO SONGS

"There are two songs in the film," Mr. Elliott said. One was "Beside a Moonlit Stream" and the other "Boo-oo." They were by the same composers who wrote "Moonlight and Shadows" for "Jungle Princess."

Mr. Colin Tapley is a young New Zealander and is under contract with Paramount for three years, and takes the part of tralling a white tiger in the jungle. He played an adventurous role as a military scout in "The Lives of a Bengal Lancer" and also had a prominent part in "Last Outpost."

Together with Mr. Elliott is Mr. Carl Burger, the chief cameraman, who has been with the famous director on previous occasions.

It is understood that filmgoers may have the opportunity of viewing this film on the screen by February next year.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jr., son of the multi-millionaire, Mr. D. Rockefeller who died recently, is likely to succeed his father as America's No. 1 philanthropist.

The father was, the pioneer of vast private philanthropy, giving away upwards of $500,000,000. Of his fortune "Mister Junior" has made gifts of more than $167,000,000 already. He also supervised, for many years much of his father's philanthropic work. The son's contributions have been more general than his father's, such as park developments, sociological studies and restorations. One of the son's chief interests now is restoration of Williamsburg, early colonial of Virginia, where great sums of money have been spent more or less rebuilding the town as it appeared in colonial days.

$12,000 A YEAR BUSINESS WOMAN

I lunched recently with Miss Mary Lewis, who is probably the most highly paid business woman in the world, writes a Home correspondent.

According to the Securities and Exchange Commission, which apart from regulating the New York Stock Exchange, enables the world to discover the salaries of all wealthy American citizens, Miss Lewis earned last year with salary and bonus just over $12,000.

Blonde, pretty and competent, Miss Lewis is a director and vice-president of Best's, the New York store. Miss Lewis, who is 38, has been with Best's for 18 years, and is the only woman among its five directors.

FRENCH PRESIDENT VISITS ALSACE

Paris, Aug. 8.
The State President, M. Albert Lebrun visited the Alsace to-day, opening a new railway tunnel through the Vosges mountains near Mariakirch. The tunnel is 44 miles long and links up the valley of Saint Dix with Mariakirch. Construction was begun in the year 1933.—Transocean.

The sale of consumer goods is one of the best indices of returning prosperity. Last year Best's sold $23,000,000 worth of high-grade clothes. Miss Lewis tells me that this figure will be easily exceeded this year, despite the stock market depression in the early months of the year.

U.S. FOREIGN POLICY

General Approval
Expressed

Washington, Aug. 8.
General approval of Mr. Cordell Hull's statement of American foreign policy is expressed in the replies received, from 37 nations, including Great Britain, France and Russia, according to an announcement by the State Department made to-day.

No replies were received from Germany, Italy and Japan however. China and Spain, too, refrained from making any comment, which is noteworthy, since Mr. Hull's declaration of July 17 was construed as particularly applying to the Spanish and Sino-Japanese conflicts.

Mr. Maxim Litvinoff, the Russian Foreign Commissar, in his reply, states that Mr. Hull's views are in harmony with the principles of the Soviet Government. Not only has the Soviet been propagating these principles, but has been carrying them out in its foreign policy.

M. Litvinoff adds that the present international situation is full of threats to the general peace, now in one continent, now in another, and demands the most energetic counter-activity on the part of all nations.

SOVIET TO BUY SHIPS

Big Craft From America?

New York, Aug. 8.

The Soviet Government is reported to be reopening negotiations for the purchase of three battleships, to be constructed in the United States.

The construction of one battleship of 35,000 tons, armed with nine 16-inch guns, is at present under discussion, but it is stated that Russia would desire ultimately to purchase three such vessels.

The subject was first broached last March, when Washington objected to the Soviet request that the completed ships' guns should be inspected and officially approved by the U.S. Navy. The question of 16-inch guns was also a stumbling block.

The Soviet has now waived the request for inspection and the United States' recent decision to equip its own vessels with 16-inch guns may have opened the way for the manufacture of this size of gun in the United States for the Soviet.

CATALAN LEADER ARRESTED

Paris, Aug. 8.

It is reported in the paper of the French Communists that the Catalan leader Andrea Nin was arrested in Madrid by agents of the Moscow Secret Police, thrown into prison and subsequently murdered. He was accused of being a Trotskyist. Rumours of his murder have been current for some time in Barcelona. It now seems to be confirmed by a statement made by the Valencia Minister of Justice to the effect that he was not in position to reveal the whereabouts of M. Andrea Nin.

SOVIET WILL NOT RECOGNISE FRANCO

Paris, Aug. 8.

The French Ambassador, to Moscow, M. Coulondre, lunched with the Foreign Commissar, M. Maxim Litvinoff on Saturday, according to the "Paris Midi". The paper says that despite the reluctance in official quarters to divulge the nature of the conversation, it can safely be taken for a fact that M. Litvinoff informed the Ambassador of Soviet Russia's intention to continue to withhold the recognition of belligerent rights to General Franco, who continues to be regarded by official Soviet quarters as "enemy of democracy and socialism."

A BRILLIANT FIRST NOVEL

"The Outward Room" (Cassell; 7s. 6d.), by Millen Brand

Most novels which have insanity as their theme, or even a mental hospital as their background, are considered morbid by the silly squeamish and immediately exchanged for one of love and un-reality. Yet, if you miss reading "The Outward Room" (Cassell; 7s. 6d.), by Millen Brand, you will miss not only a very remarkable story, but one of the best first novels. A first novel in which not only is the "promise" brilliant, but the performance unusually fine already. Yet the heroine, Harriet, is a mental case. She is not insane all the time, but is a victim of periodic madness, of which the chief symptom is acute depression. Otherwise she is a highly intelligent, cultured woman. But she knows of her disease and the knowledge makes her consider herself, as one who is already "dead." The cause of it all was the death of a much-loved brother in a motor accident of which she was the horrified witness. In a remarkable scene wherein Dr. Revin tries every experiment in attempting to bring her to life, so to speak, it is revealed that Harriet believes her mother and father were responsible for her brother's death—her own unconscious guilt being transferred to her parents in a mental effort to cheat memory of its horror.

As a desperate last resort, he tries hinting at a possible escape from the hospital and encouraging that escape when it is near fullfilment. Poor Harriet does escape, and yet, when she is in the world—haunted by her own fear of a return of insanity, lonely, friendless and poor—the struggle to survive almost carries her under in despair. Her only security seems to be the "outward room" in the city to which she has fled. There at least, she is not forever buffeted and fear-ridden. And yet, in this struggle lies the cure of her mental disease. She is taken forcibly out of herself by the effort to exist; work is her salvation. She makes a friend of a workman and eventually they become lovers. Together the daily struggle is hard and relentless, but at least their triumph over it together proves that love can win in the face of all obstacles. If it is really love, even in the dreadful knowledge that insanity may still haunt the beauty which they have made of their lives. It is a fine theme, finely carried out. Always is it interesting, and there are passages in it of a very lovely suggestion. Moreover, there is a force in the telling of it which carries you along relentlessly, in spite of certain rather too hurried descriptions of essential features in Harriet's life which should be more clearly understood. Yet on the whole, it is a very remarkable achievement and a novel which not only is absorbing to read, but which makes you think and question.

NAVAL CADET TRAINING Should The Cost Be Reduced?

(BY SIR HERBERT RUSSELL, in the "United Services Review".)

The Higher Education Sub-Committee of the London County Council have been considering whether assistance might be given to enable youths from its schools to enter the Royal Navy as officers. The proposals put forward are of no special interest, but they lead to a contemplation of much wider aspects, embracing, indeed, the whole question of the cost of entry into the commissioned ranks of the Royal Navy.

In their report the sub-committee state that the pay and prospects of a naval officer appear to be good, but that in the early stages the remuneration is insufficient to "meet" expenses. Such expenses, prior to becoming an acting sub-lieutenant, are computed at about £150 "with reasonable economy." There is no need to go into the details of this inquiry, since the project was finally rejected. The sub-committee pointed out that the assistance contemplated would be distinct from such assistance as was usually given under scholarship schemes; that the cadet, even while undergoing formal training, was definitely engaged as an officer of the Navy and in receipt of pay. An improvement in the rate of pay at the earlier stages so as to make all entrants independent, or paternal assistance appears to be the proper solution, and as "assistance given in these circumstances would mark a sharp departure from the Council's normal practice they were not prepared to initiate any action in the matter."

IS REVISION NECESSARY?

Probably this is just as well. It does not seem very desirable for the London County Council to create a "privileged class" among naval cadets from out of its own schools at the ratepayers' expense. If anything of the sort is to be done it should be, as at present, by the Admiralty under the Navy Vote. The real question is as to whether such a revision of training charges, or, conversely, of early rates of pay, is either necessary or desirable. The present should be a very good juncture for answering this question. The Navy wants more naval cadets. Is there an ample flow of candidates "of the right type" both for Dartmouth and under the Special Entry Scheme? If not is the question of the early expenses a material contributory factor in producing any shortage?

So far as Dartmouth College is concerned, I should very much doubt that it is. The Admiralty are fairly liberal in their concessions in the direction of "meeting" parents or guardians who are not in a position to pay the full scale fees laid down. I have before me a recent list of these concessions, not the latest, but sufficiently so to illustrate the principle followed. The number of naval cadets borne at the period referred to was 405. Here is the text of the official memorandum:

"The normal fee is at the rate of £150 a year, but reduced fees are allowed where the pecuniary circumstances of the parents are, in the opinion of the Admiralty, such as to justify reductions being made. The various scales at present in force are as follows:—287 cadets at £150 per annum; one at £125; eight at £120; one at £110; fifteen at £100; two at £80; three at £85; nine at £80; six at £75; twenty at £70; one at £65; eleven at £60; five at £50; one at £45; twenty-eight at £40; one at £30; and four King's cadets for whom no fees are payable."

GRADING OF FEES.

The manifest aim of the Admiralty in this grading of fees is to ensure that candidates "of the right type" shall not be excluded from Dartmouth College by reason of inability on the part of their parents or guardians to meet the normal costs. There is a very right and proper desire to maintain the large hereditary element in the Navy. Retired officers or the widows of officers have for long past been granted concessions, based alike on meritorious service and recognition of the fact that the Navy is by no means a moneyed "profession." Since the L.C.C. scheme has been rejected it is hardly worth while asking whether they anticipated attracting candidates of "the right type" by a degree of preferential treatment to lads from their own schools far in excess of what is open to any other class. Even that Socialistic-minded body apparently realized that this would not do.

THE SPECIAL ENTRY CADETS.

The State helps the parents or guardians of Dartmouth cadets where help is needed; it does nothing in connection with the Special Entry cadets—at any rate down to the time of their passing the entrance examination. Broadly speaking, under the Dartmouth scheme the country educates the naval cadet (at his parents' cost of course), and under the Special Entry scheme the candidate is educated at a public school before he becomes a cadet at all. There does seem to be here scope for a generous organization of scholarships which should largely reproduce the concessions in fees at Dartmouth College. I am not talking of what might be done, and possibly is already being done, by private benefaction, but of what might be instituted by the Admiralty to bring this avenue of entry into the Royal Navy more directly within reach of "the right type" who otherwise would be unable to afford it.

Naturally there would have to be some assurance that a public school boy who received the benefit of any sort of naval scholarship would enter the Navy and not "cry off."

This theme having been started, it is pretty safe to say that we shall hear more about it. Sooner or later it may be expected that we shall get the Admiralty view, which will be interesting and important. If I might venture upon an opinion regarding the Admiralty verdict it would be to the effect that the existent regime is working very well and giving adequate and satisfactory results; therefore the counsel would be to leave well alone. One reason why I think this is a likely forecast is because the L.C.C. inquiry practically came to this conclusion, and it is pretty certain that the sub-committee was as democratic-minded as possible in its contemplation of the subject.

U.S. War Monument Unveiled

Moving Appeals For Peace

The most important of the commemorative monuments raised by the American Government for their soldiers who fell in France during the World War was unveiled at Montfaucon, Meuse Department, to-day.

M. Albert Lebrun, the President, acted as chairman of the ceremonies, which were attended also by M. Camille Chautemps, the Premier, M. Yvon Delbos, Foreign Minister, Mr. William Bullitt, the American Ambassador, General John J. Pershing, Commander of the American forces during the World War, Marshal Petain, General Gouraud, Military Governor of Paris, Vice-Admiral Darlan, Chief of the Navy General Staff, and many other notables.

The monument commemorates the point of departure of the victorious offensive of the first American army, fighting in the Argonne region.

GEN. PERSHING SPEAKS

Recalling the bloody struggles in the Argonne, General Pershing declared, "It is memories such as this which make war hateful. The conflicts of yesterday profited nobody and left many problems unsolved. War is incapable of solving them, and nevertheless, armaments continue to grow. If we do not remedy this situation in time, we can be sure that a new world war will lead to the end of western civilization."

The assembled crowds then heard a speech broadcast from Washington by President Franklin D. Roosevelt. "We reaffirm to-day our faith in the democratic ideal. We entered the war to defend this ideal. Neither France nor the United States would seek or is seeking to make conquest. Both desire to live in peace with all nations; both seek friendships among the friends of liberty."

CATEGORY OF HEROISM

PILOT'S GALLANTRY

"The nose of the ship was broken and the pilot, although injured, was able to extricate himself and attempted to save the radio operator, who was unconscious, but in his efforts to do so, he himself lost consciousness and was picked up in this condition by a sampan."

"As is customary with planes of this type, the water-tight bulkhead door between the passengers and the crew was closed. This kept the cabin afloat a sufficient length of time to enable the passengers to unfasten their safety belts, obtain their life preservers from their seats, and leave the cabin through the windows. As the ship remained afloat, the passengers were able to cling to the bottom of the hull, from which they were picked up by fishing sampans and sampans sent out by the Chikang Point Lighthouse, close by."

TAKEN TO LIGHTHOUSE

"The passengers and pilot were taken to the lighthouse, where the keeper, Mr. M. L. MacKenzie, provided hot coffee, dry clothing, food and shelter until the Customs patrol boat took them aboard at 7.30 p.m. The British destroyer, H.M.S. Thracian, which had been dispatched from Hong Kong shortly after contact had been lost with the plane, arrived off Chikang Point about midnight and the passengers were transferred from the Customs patrol ship to the Thracian and returned to Hong Kong, where they were met by ambulances and taxis and rushed to Queen Mary Hospital for immediate treatment. The passengers were uninjured, with the exception of three, who received minor cuts and bruises and are being treated at Queen Mary Hospital. Captain Smith received an injured hand and bruises."

"A search is being continued by the Customs cruiser for the missing members of the crew. Co-pilot Ohnberger, Radio Operator N. A. Chen, and Steward F. H. Chen. The Customs Patrol is also maintaining a guard over the wrecked plane, which has been dragged close to the shore line and lashed down to a rock."

"Most of the mail has been salvaged and is being returned to Hong Kong under the supervision of the Customs patrol authorities. An attempt is being made to recover all of the passengers' baggage."

CAPT. SMITH'S SKILL PRAISED

"Passengers were profuse in their praise of Captain Smith's skill in avoiding a more serious accident, and were also grateful to Mr. E. M. Walsh, Customs-Wright representative, and Mr. Wong Pao-shin, C.N.A.C. radio operator, who was travelling as a passenger, as these two gentlemen were instrumental in getting life-preservers on most of the passengers and getting them out of the plane. They are also extremely thankful for the courtesy and services rendered them by the Chikang Lighthouse keeper, Mr. M. L. MacKenzie and his aides."

"The efficiency of Kai Tak Airport officials and Communications Department, when locating the Chinese Customs cruiser Hohsing and advising it to proceed to the scene of the accident, and the remarkable speed with which H.M.S. Thracian proceeded to Chikang Point to transfer the passengers for their return to Hong Kong, are a credit to the Colony of Hong Kong and the Chinese Customs service, and their work in this incident should go down in the annals of Hong Kong's history under the category of heroism."

EYE-WITNESS'S STORY

Interviewed, one of the passengers said the accident occurred when the pilot attempted a forced landing.

Continuing, he stated that weather conditions were so bad that the plane could neither go ahead nor turn back. All the pilot could do was to come down. As the plane was about to land, the engine was struck by a huge wave, damaging it badly. If the sea had been calm probably nothing would have happened.

As Thracian came alongside here, Mr. Walsh was the first of the survivors to be sighted on deck. He waved to his friends on the dock and indicated that he was uninjured.

Capt. Smith was helped up the companion way to the deck where a stretcher was waiting for him. He moved with difficulty and his left arm was heavily bandaged and in splints.

A Chinese passenger, with a bandaged head, was next brought up and he was also placed in the ambulance. A Chinese passenger from Canton had his right arm in a sling. Several other passengers also went in the ambulance, which took the party to the Queen Mary Hospital.

C.N.A.C. STAFF KEPT ANXIOUS

Throughout the night an anxious watch was kept by officials of the C.N.A.C. at all their stations between Shanghai and Canton. The Hong Kong staff—which had already been up one night owing to the lateness of the boat on Saturday—spent 36 hours on duty at a stretch.

Commander C. Wauchope, Staff Officer Operations, was in constant touch with the Thracian and a St. John Ambulance was waiting at the north arm of the Dockyard ready to rush the injured people to hospital. Mr. P. H. Tai, manager of the Delany, and Mr. H. R. Graves of Pan-American Airways, Mr. A. J. R. Moss, Superintendent of Kai Tak Aerodrome, and Mr. E. Nelson, Assistant Superintendent, were on the dock when the ship came in at 6.45 p.m. yesterday.

Originally expected at 5.15 a.m., Thracian radioed that poor visibility was forcing her to reduce to 10 knots.

We are glad to be able to state that General Y. S. Wen and Mr. Shui (former Mayor of Tientsin) were not travelling by the Sikorsky Plane "Chekiang" when it crashed.

They had both intended to travel North by air, but changed their plans at the last moment, and sailed for Shanghai in the Empress of Japan instead.

IMPERIAL AIRWAYS
DIRECTOR

The appointment of Sir Francis Joseph to the Board of Imperial Airways, as one of two directors representing the Government, gives industry in general an extra member on the board at the expense of the air experts.

Sir Walter Nicholson, whose place Sir Francis takes, was for ten years secretary to the Air Ministry.

Sir Francis Joseph has a wide variety of business interests. The core of his undertakings is a group of collieries in Staffordshire; but he adds to that directorships in timber, arms, copper mining, banking and railways.

He began work as a messenger-boy at 12; and when he threw up a safe job to go into business on his own, he had a banking account of just £33 18s. He made £1,000 profit in the first year.

CRUELTY TO DUCKS

A fine of $10 was imposed on Tse Chan, aged 29, coolie, when he appeared before Mr. E. Himsworth at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday morning for rendering unnecessary cruelty to fowls.

Inspector Post said that defendant and another coolie, Yuen Ip, were seen carrying a basket containing a number of ducks. The legs of the fowls were sticking through the crate. Yuen Ip failed to appear to answer the charge and had his bail of $10 estreated.

THE KING'S ACTIVE
GREAT-UNCLE

That the Duke of Connaught presided at a Court held at Trinity House is a further indication of his vitality and energy.

At 87 he has naturally to keep to a careful schedule dictated by his doctors. But this includes working in the morning and a walk, often in St. James's Park, in the afternoon.

This was his second public appearance in a week. When he attended the Palestine debate in the House of Lords all the peers noticed his erect carriage and obvious fitness.

At home in Clarence House the Duke receives many visitors. Those who see him are impressed by his grip of present-day affairs and find that his flair for the right word is as striking as ever.

He has arranged to leave Clarence House for Baginbode shortly.

SEAFARING FOLK
IN COURT

Conflicting evidence given by the witnesses for the defence, gave ground for a conviction to be registered against two seamen who pleaded not guilty to the charge of assault on a master of a sailing boat, Lam Pat, aged 49, before Mr. K. M. A. Barnett at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday.

The assault originated as a result of a very slight collision between the lighter and the boat which was a little damaged at the stern, on August 5.

It appears that the boat was lying alongside the s.s. Islami at No. 1 buoy and the lighter was also approaching the steamer. Owing to the strong wind and rough sea, the lighter accidentally bumped into the boat, causing damage to the railing in the stern. Leung Sze, mistress of the boat demanded compensation from the folks of the lighter but they refused this. Lam Pat, complainant, said that he was asleep at the time, and when he heard the quarrel he came out of his cabin and was informed by his wife of the incident.

JUMPED ONTO BOAT

In evidence, Lam Pat said that the defendants, Tse Pun, 29, and Chan Yan, 27, not only refused to come to terms, but jumped over to his craft, with wooden bars in their hands and assaulted him. He received a knock on his head and he was pushed overboard. He was rescued from the water by his foki, Wong Bing. The police were, in the meantime, informed, and defendants were identified and detained.

CHARGE DENIED

Both defendants denied the assault charge, and claimed that complainant had boarded the lighter with a pole in his hand to chase them.

Three witnesses for the defence, who were also folks on the lighter, were then called. They were Chan Kwong, Mak Moon and Chan Sun.

First claimed that complainant Lam Pat had boarded their lighter with a wooden bar in his hand to assault them. Mak Moon said that Lam Pat boarded their lighter with an iron bar, and Chan Sun, 16, stated that complainant came to attack them with a chopper in his hand.

SPECIAL SECTION

Applying a special section in His Majesty's Ordinance, his Worship convicted first defendant, who was charged with assault, on a charge of disorderly conduct. He and his three witnesses were each bound over in the sum of $10 for 12 months.

Chan Yan, was found guilty of the assault, and was fined $10 or 21 days' hard labour, and was ordered to pay a compensation of $10, failing which a further term of 21 days was to be added to his sentence. He was also bound over in the sum of $10 for six months, effective from the expiration of his prison terms.

THE WORLD'S GRATITUDE

"When this chapter of history comes to be written it is reasonable to anticipate that Posterity's impartial judges will record to China the world's gratitude for that ancient and greatly wronged nation having 'called the bluff' of Japan, a Power characterised by deceit and conceit.

According to the latest communications it is expected by the 'authorities' (represented by a cunningly organised minority) in Tokio that 'real hostilities with China will commence in one week's time.' The omission of 'zero hour' is to be deplored. Such incompleteness by a nation famed for its thoroughness in propaganda indicates a certain slackening of control. However, in connection with Japanese propaganda during the present crisis there have been other omissions, the most grievous, of course, being the truth. Simultaneously there comes the official announcement that the Japanese Ambassador to China, Mr. Kawagoe, after consultation with sundry colleagues, has decided not to go to Nanking to press his suit on Japan's behalf. Is such diplomacy the better part of valour?

Although it would have been a nice gesture on Japan's part to have authorised its Ambassador to treat with the Government of China at the centre of authority in Nanking, yet it is doubtful whether Nippon's suave negotiator could have obtained a settlement calculated to satisfy the territorial gluttony of the militaristic clique which, terroristically bosses that manacled nation, because China's policy as proclaimed by Chiang Kai-shek and received with general and enthusiastic approbation on July 18, has not altered one jot throughout the crisis. The minimum conditions possible as a basis for negotiation were crystallised by the Generalissimo under the following headings which have become known as 'the four points', namely:—

ADMIRAL NORRIS
The Persian Gulf And The Caspian

Admiral David Thomas Norris, who died at Sherborne, Dorset, recently at the age of 81, had a distinguished War record, probably unique in that the command which he exercised with distinction was that of British naval forces in an inland sea, completely cut off from communication by sea from any other British naval force, and for that reason largely improvised with the local resources of a backward country.

His first command in the War was the armed merchant cruiser Arlanc, in the 10th Cruiser Squadron which he held for two years. After a year in the Air Department at the Admiralty, where he was responsible for 'airships' in 1918 he became Commander of the Persian Gulf division of the East Indies Station, a command which also comprised the naval forces then being formed on the Caspian Sea. He organized and commanded the flotilla which cooperated so effectively with the force under the command of Major-General Dunsterville, for which service he was mentioned twice in dispatches and was made a C.B. and C.M.G.

In 1920 Norris was relieved in the Persian Gulf command, but remained in Persia for another year in the capacity of head of a British naval mission. After his return home, he became Director of the Trade Division of the Admiralty Naval Staff for two years, afterwards commanding the Vanguard in the Home Fleet for a few months before his promotion to flag rank. As a rear-admiral he served for a year in the First Battle Squadron, Mediterranean Fleet, but retired on promotion to vice-admiral in October, 1929. He was promoted to admiral in the retired list in 1933.

He was buried at sea at Portland from H.M.S. Wolfhound.

(1) Any kind of settlement must not infringe upon the territorial integrity and the sovereign rights of our nation.

(2) The status of the Hopei—Chahar Political Council is fixed by the Central Government; we should not allow any illegal alteration.

(3) We will not agree to the removal by outside pressure of those local officials appointed by the Central Government, such as the Chairman of the Hopei-Chahar Political Council.

(4) We will not allow any restriction being placed upon the positions now held by the 29th Army.

After elucidating those four points, Chiang Kai-shek declared, "These conditions are the minimum that can be considered. We do not want war, but we may be forced to defend ourselves. During this grave crisis the Government may be counted upon to guide the nation with calmness and restraint, the people likewise must show sobriety and discipline. In discharging our obligations to our race let there be no distinction between North and South, age or youth, but let all implicitly and with iron discipline follow the guidance of the Government."

Surely a very restrained and reasonable statement under particularly exasperating circumstances, but truly great men, like truly great nations, always manifest their superiority by unostentatious self-control. A nation which is slow to anger is a nation to be feared, for its fury is terrific when once roused. The fire-belching insolence of Japan has roused China as never before, and Chiang Kai-shek's Four Points are now backed by a solid phalanx of national sentiment which constitutes an enduring inspiration.

The Central Government has greatly enhanced its reputation by its almost superhuman patience in trying to preserve peace with Japan. That Government now realises it is not worth while to continue a policy which might, with some justification, be misinterpreted for procrastination and vacillation leading to inevitable humiliation. If Chiang Kai-shek's Four Points are not acceptable to Japan as a basis

TYPHOON TAKE
OF PROPERTYShanghai "Gets A Blow"

One of the worst typhoons to strike the China coast in years took heavy toll of life, limb and property in Shanghai recently, paralyzed shipping and wrought general havoc throughout the region. Low-lying areas were flooded and serious accidents and fires caused.

The effects of the storm began to make themselves felt during night of August 2 and increased in intensity throughout the day.

While scores were injured as walls tumbled, vehicles overturned or collided, and electric wires fell, one of the most serious consequences of the storm in Shanghai was to feed a disastrous fire in a godown in North Soochow Road, near North Chekiang Road, in which several persons were injured. Throughout the city, trees were uprooted, windows broken and signboards overturned.

HAIL-LIKE FORCE

A number of foreign factories, mills and other concerns with plants in Footing closed down for the day. The Bund, however, was no joke as the launches pitched and tossed, and struggled across the river; journeys which normally take no more than five minutes lasted for twenty minutes or more, and the task of jumping ashore from a leaping launch onto a plunging pontoon gave not a few people a nasty moment or two.

Rain, pelting, driving rain, poured down at odd intervals during the day, being driven with almost hail-like force into the faces of those who had to go out to brave the elements. Throughout the day, the crash of glass and the clatter of corrugated iron could be heard all over the city, as windows, smashed, roofings partially disintegrated, and shutters, after flapping violently back and forth, flew off into space.

MEN ELECTROCUTED

One fatality occurred at the junction of Soochow and Fokien Roads, where a Chinese was struck and electrocuted by high-tension wires ruptured by the typhoon. The man was taken to Lester Chinese Hospital in a Fire Brigade ambulance, but he was dead on arrival. His body was removed to the Public Morgue in Fearon Road.

A fatal case was reported at Kiao-chang-miao, Nantao, when a pedestrian was electrocuted by a live wire torn down from an electric pole. The man was about 40 years of age. The accident occurred at Shan Lung Yuan Street.

DAMAGES

Among the premises damaged were those of the Ascot Riding School, Tunxin Road, where the stable roof was torn off; 100 Feking Road, where the corrugated iron roof had to be made safe; the Astor House Hotel, where a chimney fell through the roof; Kweming and Thornburn Roads, where a match was blown onto some electric cables; and Foochow and Szechuen Roads, where a dividing wall was demolished.

Large plate-glass windows crashed at several Bubbling Well Road shops. Countless sign-boards and hoardings were torn to fragments and in Bubbling Well Road, west of Mohawk Road, a gigantic representation of a Yangtze Gorges steamer all but capsize.

At Peking and Szechuen Roads, corrugated iron sheets were blown into the street, but luckily missed passersby. A call received from the Foreign Y.M.C.A. Bubbling Well Road, resulted in the removal of loose tiles from the roof before serious damage was caused. Portions of walls and cables crashed to the ground in various parts of Shanghai.—N.C.D.N.

for negotiations, then, rather than submit to further impairment of territorial integrity resulting in the loss of essential morale, China is determined to face the consequences of war. This she is in the mood to do, and Japan must be the most surprised nation in the world that China should have the nerve to "call the bluff." But China has the nerve alright and, what is supremely important, the spirit to carry her through what promises to be the most gruelling test of her national unity.

CHINA REVIEW

The Bone Of Contention

The autonomous East Hopei regime has caused China very grave concern, as it is becoming very evident that the so-called pro-Japanese elements there are working for the alienation of that area from the Central authorities writes the Chinese correspondent of the "Malaya Tribune."

Asked whether it was true that the abolition of this autonomous regime was China's absolute condition for the readjustment of Sino-Japanese relations, the Chinese Foreign Minister said: "We have not designated any particular problem as absolutely pre-requisite for the readjustment of Sino-Japanese relations. The existence, however, of the puppet regime in eastern Hopei is injurious to China and not beneficial to Japan. This is one of the simplest and easiest problems of solution. If such a simple problem cannot be satisfactorily solved, it will, of course, be difficult to proceed with the more complicated problems. This fact is obvious."

Hopei is Chinese territory, which broke loose from the authority of the Central Government at the time when Nanking was pre-occupied with other matters of vital importance to the country. When an autonomous regime was set up in Hopei, China realised that something must be done to check the movement, lest it should gather sufficient momentum to make her boundaries even smaller.

China worked assiduously for unity within her borders, and now that it has been achieved, she is attempting to bring under her rule what, after all, was her own land, namely East Hopei. To the right-thinking, there can be nothing improper in China's action in this direction, but it has arrested attention in Tokyo.

The Agreements

When the East Hopei regime came into being, certain agreements were signed by the Chinese authorities "on the spot" and the Japanese, one being the Houmatau agreement of 1935, under which Central Government troops are debarred from entering Hopei.

Japan claims that China has violated that agreement as Central Government troops are pouring into Hopei, but China has made it clear that she will not recognise any agreement allegedly entered into between the Chinese authorities "on the spot" and the Japanese, so long as the sanction of the Central Government has not been obtained.

It goes without saying that agreements signed between Chinese officers of the autonomous regime in Hopei and the representatives of the Japanese government there are non-binding so far as Nanking is concerned, for the Central Government has not ratified such documents, nor can she reasonably be expected to do so.

Japan invariably insists upon settlement with Chinese authorities "on the spot," but this is really impossible, particularly in Hopei, where the puppet government came into existence largely because it was sponsored by Japan. In any part of China, settlement of any outstanding issues can only be effected after reference has been made to the terms approved by Nanking. That is called for under a clause which is identical in all treaties and/or agreements involving China and foreign powers—the need for respecting Nanking's sovereign rights.

Kwangtung Currency

The recent visit of Mr. T. V. Soong to Canton has wrought far-reaching changes in the Kwangtung currency system, which has certain peculiarities as the result of deep-rooted customs and traditions. In this southernmost province, there exists what is commonly known as "small money." The local government has hitherto placed no restrictions on its issue and consequently the market is flooded with such small-coin notes without having sufficient reserves to ensure safe circulation.

For this reason, there is a constant flight of capital to Hong Kong, and at the rumour of political disturbances a financial panic is bound to ensue. When Kwangtung came within the fold of the Central Government last year, measures were immediately devised to ameliorate this unsatisfactory condition. It is understood that in three months' time provincial and municipal notes will disappear from circulation, and in their place, national notes will be issued.

The retirement of local notes is to be left entirely to the three "big" banks, namely the Central Bank, the Bank of China, and the Bank of Communications, all of which have, as their special prerogative, the printing and circulating of recognised Chinese National currency. In the meantime, they will make forthrightly reports of the progress that has been made in retiring this local money. From each bill a corner will be snipped and these corners will be sent back to the Provincial Bank as a proof of the accuracy of the reported figures.

Much Needed Reform

At present there are still $337,849,000 worth of provincial notes circulating in the market, and from Jan. 1 1938, they will cease to be legal tender. The public is therefore advised to make a conversion within the stipulated time, otherwise they will run the risk of their money being forfeited. The ratio of exchange is decided at $144 Kwangtung "small money" to every $100 national currency notes.

Much good is expected to result from this reform. Greater stability will be ensured and, as pointed out by Mr. Soong, the immediate result will be the lowering of commodity prices with consequent benefit to the public at large. In short, Kwangtung is fast reaping the reward of coming under Nanking's control, and may soon join the rest of the country in enjoying the benefits of a sound currency with stable exchange rates.

In contrast with Kwangtung, Kwangsi stands in need of expert guidance in currency adjustment. If Mr. Soong's services should be made available, similar progress to that witnessed in Kwangtung may easily repeat itself in Kwangsi.

Chinese Culture

Addressing a large audience at the National Sun Yat Sen University in Canton, Mr. Wu Teh Chen, Governor of Kwangtung, emphasised the importance of the Cultural Reconstruction movement in China and exhorted the people to greater efforts for a higher standard of life. "In the past," he said, "we did not struggle hard enough for our national existence in a world whose philosophy is based on the theory of the survival of the fittest."

It is generally accepted that a highly-developed culture is the very foundation of a nation's creative ability and that it is indispensable to the strengthening of national character.

Perhaps on account of China's deep-rooted philosophy inherited from her ancient civilisation, she is able to survive up to the present day as an independent state. History has shown that she had weathered many a storm in the past—storms which would have wrecked any loosely-built political structure.

According to Mr. Wu, Chinese culture may be divided into three periods, and centred in three definite areas. Ancient culture, or the creative period, had its inception along the Yellow River. The culture of the middle ages, or the period of stagnation, was centred along the Yangtze River. The culture of the present age, or the national renaissance period, sprang from Canton, owing to a great measure to its early contact with the West and the consequent inception of modern and revolutionary ideas, which earned its name "the cradle of the Chinese revolution."

NORTH CHINA SITUATION

Tension At Tsingtao

Tsingtao, Aug. 9. Owing to the arrival of two Japanese warships and the patrolling of Japanese police and volunteers, the situation at Tsingtao has suddenly become tense.

All shops closed their doors at 8 p.m., and very few people were seen walking in the streets.

During the last two days over ten Japanese steamers arrived at Tsingtao, and it is said that these ships will be used to convey the Japanese residents back to Japan.—Chinese Evening Press.

JAPANESE WAR PLANE OVER PAOTING

Paoting, Aug. 9. The weather turned fine yesterday, when a Japanese war-plane was observed reconnoitering over Paoting at about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The plane left Paoting after circling over the city for about fifteen minutes.—Chinese Evening Press.

CLASH AT YANGLIUCHING

Tientsin, Aug. 9. Last night at about 8 o'clock several postal vans left Tientsin for the south to distribute letters but were forced to return when half-way.

According to the postmen, it is stated that Chinese troops were seen hotly pursuing the defeated Japanese troops at Yang-liu-ching. It is also reported that fierce fighting is in progress between the Japanese and Chinese troops.—Chinese Evening Press.

SCARE AT PAOSHAN

Shanghai, Aug. 9. Last night twenty Japanese marines suddenly entered the native city. The Chinese Peace Preservation Corps immediately made preparations in the roads of Paoshan and Chapel Districts to stop their advance.

On seeing the Chinese preparations, the Japanese marines retired. This incident alarmed the Chinese citizens, who began to leave these two districts.—Chinese Evening Press.

It is reported that thirty Chinese policemen have been sent to help the Japanese police to preserve peace in the Japanese settlement. Orders have been given for the removal of all the sand bags, etc.—Chinese Evening Press.

Emperor Hirohito recently personally invested eight high Japanese Army officers, appointed to new posts in the semi-annual army reshuffle.

The newly appointed officers were Lt.-Gen. Shunroku Hata, a member of the Supreme War Council; Lt.-Gen. Kotaro Nakamura, Commander of the Tokyo Garrison; Lt.-Gen. Motoo Furusho, Commander of the Formosa Garrison; Lt.-Gen. Tomoo Kodama, Commander of the Western Defence District; Lt.-Gen. Kwaego Nakajima, Commander of the Sixteenth Division; Lt.-Gen. Waichiro Sohabe, Commander of the Seventh Division; Lt.-Gen. Susumu Fujita, Commander of the Third Division; and Lt.-Gen. Toshinari Maeda, Commander of the Eighth Division. The reshuffle affected nearly 6,000 officers of whom 2,600 were promoted, 3,400 transferred and 50 placed on the waiting list. Eleven major-generals were promoted to lieutenant-generals, including Maj.-Gen. Jyun Ushiroku, Director of the War Ministry's Military Affairs Bureau. Col. Hikosaburo Hata has been replaced by Col. Mamoru Hara as chief of the War Ministry's Bureau of Information.

Nanking, Aug. 9. Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Head of the Nanking Central Government, invited all the army leaders to lunch yesterday.—Chinese Evening Press.

JAPANESE RETIRING

Tsinan, Aug. 9. Fighting has ceased along the Tientsin-Pukow Railway. The Chinese advance positions are being held by new troops.

The troops of the 38th Division have been sent to the rear and are being reformed. Telephonic communication between Tientsin and Pukow has been restored and extends to Yang-liu-ching, where all traces of Japanese troops have disappeared.

It is also reported that Japanese warships are leaving Shanghai waters. The Chinese troops are advancing and occupying designated positions, and in a week's time, it will be known whether there is to be war or not.

Japanese aeroplanes were observed reconnoitering Liang-whang-chang this morning.—Chinese Evening Press.

HANKOW TENSION EASED

Hankow, Aug. 9. In contrast to the acute tension of last week, a feeling of great relief prevails to-day following the complete evacuation of the Japanese from their concession.

Sixty Chinese police entered the Japanese area yesterday, in accordance with the request of the Japanese consular officials, to safeguard Japanese interests and property during the absence of the residents.

The concession presents a rather pathetic scene. It is a desolate place, with everywhere signs of the hurried departure of the people, half-finished meals on the tables, open cupboards, and in many cases unlocked doors. The owners were in too great a hurry or did not think it worth the trouble to lock up their homes and places of business.—Reuters.

WEAKNESS IN DOLLAR

London, August 9. The city attributes the weakness of the dollar to heavy sales of Japanese gold in the United States in connexion with the Far Eastern situation. After touching the 49.25 the dollar recovered on commercial demand but quite substantial selling orders were reported slightly below the present level of 49.80. The suggestion that the passing of the Wages and Hours Bill by the Senate caused the selling of dollars owing to fears of increase in United States costs was dismissed because it was too early to estimate the effects of the Bill on United States economy. There is no sign of control in the operations.—Reuters.

NEW IMPETUS GIVEN

The Strife For Efficiency

The attempt to realise National Socialist principles in the sphere of practical economic life has recently been given new impetus. Dr. Ley, Leader of the German Workers' Front, has just published the details of a national competition, designed to promote efficiency, in which there are four different awards:

Firstly, for model trade education; secondly, for model public health arrangements; thirdly, for model workers' homes and fourthly, for model support of the organisation "Strength through Joy". None of these four diplomas will be awarded unless there is a really model state of affairs.

President Goering, who is in charge of the performance of the Four Years Plan, has issued an appeal to all German firms to enter for these competitions—a sure proof of the importance in which they are held by the leaders of the state.—Transocean News Service.

BETTERS OWN TIME

Another Record Set By The Normandie

Paris, August 9. The 82,799-ton French liner, Normandie, present holder of the Blue Riband of the Atlantic, and which last week set up a record for the westward Atlantic crossing, has now bettered her own record for the eastward journey. The giant liner covered 2,336 miles from Ambrose Lightship to Bishop's Rock in three days 22 hours 7 minutes at an average speed of 31.2 knots.—Transocean News Service.

On August 1 the Normandie became the first liner to cross the Atlantic in under four days. She accomplished the journey between Bishop's Rock and the Ambrose Lightship in three days 23 hours, 2 minutes. This was one hour better than her previous record for a voyage from east to west and also an hour better than the west to east record with which she took the Blue Riband from the Queen Mary.

The Normandie, owned by the Cie Generale Transatlantique was built in 1933 and is quadruple screw. TWO NEW RECORDS The Normandie arrived at Southampton after making a very fast crossing of the Atlantic beating her own record at a speed of 31.2 knots. The Normandie created two new records in the outward voyage and made a new mark for the crossing from east to west, states a "Reuter Bulletin Service" message.

VIGOROUS PROTEST TO BE LODGED

BOMBING OF BRITISH SHIP

Insurgents Blame Valencia Government

London, Aug. 9. Sir Henry Chilton, British Ambassador to Spain has been instructed to make vigorous protest to General Franco regarding the bombing of the steamer, British Corporal. It is understood through secret service channels that two Spanish vessels carrying important cargoes were due to have arrived at Spanish ports. Insurgent planes were sent out to intercept them and mistook the British and French vessels for them resulting in the bombing incidents. The Spanish vessels have now safely arrived at their ports.—Reuters's Bulletin Service.

NOT NATIONALIST PLANES

Salamanca, Aug. 9. The insurgent Government has laid the blame on the Valencia Government for the three attacks by planes on shipping in the Mediterranean during the past two days. It is declared that the planes were piloted by Spanish Red aviators. It is added that the planes could not be the Nationalists owing to the fact that one of the ships bombed was Italian. A Dutch observer who was aboard the Italian vessel during the attack reported at Algiers that on a previous occasion whilst aboard another ship they were stopped by insurgent gunboat and planes the latter of which were identical to those which attacked them during the present incident. The French Government has given an order for escorts of seaplanes and gunboats for French vessels plying between France and Algiers.—Reuters's Bulletin Service.

IN CLOSE CONTACT

Gibraltar, Aug. 9. All British warships in the Mediterranean also Naval shore stations have been instructed to keep in close wireless contact with all British merchantmen.—Reuters's Bulletin Service.

BOMBARDMENT OF ITALIAN STEAMER

Paris, Aug. 9. The bombardment of the Italian steamer "Mongolia," whose captain died in hospital in Algiers, from the inquiry sustained during the bombardment, is the subject to lengthy comments in the papers here to-day.

Left Wing papers express the belief that the bombardment was carried out by Spanish Nationalist airmen who mistook the identity of the steamer. "Aeropost" published by the Agence Radio, whose representative interviewed the "Mongolia," however, state that the plane in question cruised over the ship for more than twenty-five minutes before attacking her and thus had ample time to establish the identity of the vessel. The plane, according to the Dutch observer descended to such a low altitude that the pilot must undoubtedly have recognized the large Italian flag and the national emblems visibly displayed by the attacked ship.

The "Petit Journal" is of the opinion that the "Mongolia" was

REARMAMENT SHOULD BE HASTENED

BRITAIN AND AIR DEFENCE

London, August 9. In the leading article of his paper, the "Daily Mail," on Monday, Lord Rothermere demanded that British rearmament be hastened. Above all, he says, the air force should be strengthened and air defence centrally organized.

Lord Rothermere

"The aim of British foreign policy," Lord Rothermere points out, "should be to bring about a rapprochement between Germany and Britain. So far however there has unfortunately been no sign of a systematic effort to come to an understanding with Germany regarding the international situation. Constant consultation between British and German Ministers is just as important as consultation between British and French ministers."—Transocean News Service.

GERMAN COUNCILLOR AT FOREIGN OFFICE

London, Aug. 9. Herr Woermann, Councillor of the German Embassy, called at the Foreign Office this morning in connection with the expulsion of three German journalists but hitherto the nature of the communication is not known though it is believed to have been couched in restrained terms.—Reuters.

GERMAN COMMENTS ON AIR ATTACK

Berlin, Aug. 9. The attempt of the French Left Wing papers to shift the responsibility for the latest air attack on ships in the western Mediterranean on to the shoulders of the Spanish Nationalist is called by the "Voelkischer Beobachter" a transparent move "which will surprise no one who is familiar with Bolshevik methods".

The paper adds that in the present instance this move will not be successful, as the Dutch observer conclusively proved that the attack could not be committed by Nationalist planes. The paper adds that such incidents always conveniently occur at such a moment when Moscow sees fit that the work of the London Non-Intervention Committee would be disturbed.—Transocean News Service.

FLIGHT OVER POLE DELAYED

UNFAVOURABLE WEATHER

Moscow, August 9. The third projected flight over the North Pole from Moscow to the United States is being delayed by unfavourable weather conditions according to well informed circles here which point out that the first two flights were favoured with exceptionally good weather but that owing to the fickleness of polar climate considerable time will probably still elapse before regular air service between Soviet Russia and North America, along this route, can be organized.

Reports from the Soviet Russian polar expedition indicate that in consequence of August storms the ice floe on which the party has pitched its camp is now being carried in a north easterly direction at an average rate of 20 kilometres a day.—Transocean News Service.

AMBULANCE BRIGADE

A well attended public meeting was held at the M.V.C. drill hall to consider and formally inaugurate a Malacca branch of the St. John Ambulance Association. The Hon. Mr. E. V. G. Day, presided and Dr. E. V. Lupprian addressed the meeting.

Dr. Lupprian said that the Venerable Order of the Hospital of Saint John of Jerusalem was the oldest order of chivalry in Europe and its origin dated back as far as the 8th century, as it was on record that as early as 8th century a hospice for Christian pilgrims existed in the Holy City, and this was continued through the centuries.

MAGISTRATE "TRICKS" THE LAW

Mr. Claud Mullins, the Magistrate at the London South-Western Police Court, wanted a 18-year-old youth who appeared on two charges of stealing 10s. to go to Borstal, but it was stated that although he had been to an industrial school he had never been convicted.

The Magistrate adjourned one charge for a week and sentenced the lad to a week's imprisonment on the other, so that when he comes up on remand he will have a conviction which will make him liable for Borstal.

"It is tricky, but if the law is so stupid it can be tricked," remarked Mr. Mullins.

Sergeant W. Barr, of 8 Borstal Road, reported to the police that he was bitten by a cat, which he owned, on August 3. He was treated in hospital and the cat was sent to the Kennedy Town depot.

PROFESSIONAL TENNIS

W. T. TILDEN BEATEN BY NUSSLEIN

Straight Sets Victory

Paris, August 9.
In the finals of the tennis tournament for professionals held in connection with the International World Exhibition, Hans Nusslein, of Germany, defeated W. T. Tilden, of the United States, in three straight sets, the score in the German player's favour being 6-2, 7-5, 6-0.

The French professional player, Ramillon, occupied third place when he defeated Lester Rollo Stoecken, of the United States, 6-4, 6-2, 6-3.—Transocean News Service.

Nusslein, prominent professional player, defeated Big Bill Tilden in the "world's" professional championship in Berlin, 1933, and again in Wembley Stadium tournament, in 1934. Nusslein won the Argentine professional championship in 1933 and in the following year won the American championship.

Last November, Tilden, accompanied by Elsworth Vines, visited the Far East on a tour and gave exhibition matches on the Hong Kong Cricket Club courts when they passed through the Colony.

Tilden became a professional in December, 1930.

A correspondent wrote recently that the butterfly stroke is more exhausting than the orthodox stroke, but the feeling of strain is reduced. The butterfly stroke strengthens muscles which are used in the underwater recovery.

It is to be hoped that instructors will not ignore the butterfly stroke despite the official ban. It is only a question of time before the A.S.A. will have to come into line with the rest of the world, and allow the stroke to be used in championships.

ATTEMPT TO SHOOT SERGEANT

Shoeblack Confesses Crime

Planning a plot in which he could get rid of a man whom he thought was going to be the one responsible for his dismissal, and stealing a rifle from a rack in the quarters of the constables in the Central Police Station, Li Tsan, a 28-year-old shoeblack was brought before Mr. K. Keen yesterday, charged with attempting to murder Sergeant Natche Khan (B.I.) on the night of July 2.

CASE OUTLINED

Chief Detective Inspector Murphy outlined the case by stating that the defendant was in the employ of the Central Station as a shoeblack. On July 2 about 8.40 p.m. Sergeant Khan retired to his sleeping quarters, which was diagonally across from Main building. Near the entrance of the room was a rack in which service rifles were kept. Ten rifles, including that of Khan's were resting on the brackets. A short while after Khan had turned off the light he heard a shot which he suspected to have been fired by a service rifle. No one in the Headquarters knew where it came from and Inspector McWalter who was on charge-room duty, went to investigate. In one of the stone stairs he kicked against something and nearly fell. On stooping he discovered it to be a rifle with one spent shell in the magazine.

DEFENDANT CONFESSES

After the shooting an Indian sergeant saw the defendant leaving the Central Police Station by the main gate. The defendant proceeded to the District Watchman's quarters in Taipingshan and confessed that he had shot and killed an Indian, and was brought back to Central station.

A further search by Inspector Simon revealed that the defendant must have fired at a room near the office of the Inspector General of the Police as a clip containing four rounds were found in the passage-way.

Investigations proved that the ammunition was stolen from P. C. B. W. The shot which the defendant fired was lodged in the wall of a house in Hollywood Road and defendant made a statement in answer to the charge, stating that he attempted to kill Khan because he thought he was going to be dismissed, holding Khan as the person responsible.

Formal evidence was given by Sergeant Moran, Sergeant-Major Smith of the R.A.O.C., Sub-Inspector Whant and Inspector McWalter.

At this stage the case was adjourned to Saturday, August 14.

CHOLERA CASE IN POLICE CELL

The discovery of a case of cholera in a cell at West Point Police Station yesterday caused swift measures to be taken to prevent the infection of contacts.

The victim was Chan Sang, an unemployed hawk.

As a result of the case, five other hawkers, a beggar and three others detained for larceny were not taken to the Central Magistracy yesterday on the advice of the Medical Officer.

They were remanded for 48 hours and are being treated.

Chan Sang was removed to the Queen Mary Hospital at 4.45 this morning and was later transferred to the Kennedy Town Hospital.

All the Police officers and others who had any contact with those in the cell are being given precautionary treatment.

HEALTH RETURNS

Three cases of cholera, four of enteric fever, one of measles and two of dysentery were reported to the Health Authorities for the 24 hours ended at noon yesterday.

HOME CRICKET

Selections For The Third Test

London, Aug. 8.

Northants, the poorest of the English county cricket teams, has produced another Test cricketer. A. D. G. Matthews who has been bowling brilliantly for Northants this season, has been chosen to play for England against New Zealand in the third Test at the Oval on August 14, and he is the first Northants player to receive such distinguished recognition since V. W. C. Jupp, the amateur all-rounder, who was formerly with Sussex.

Another newcomer to Test cricket to be included in England's latest team is Dennis Compton, the talented young Middlesex player.

Matthews, Compton and Kenneth Farnes have been brought into the team at the expense of Willard, F. R. Brown and J. Smith, who played in the second match at Manchester.

Otherwise the side remains unchanged. It will be captained by R. W. V. Robins (Middlesex) captain.

WORLD'S RECORD EQUALLED

Barbara Burke's Victory

A series of excellent performances were achieved at the Olympic Stadium where 70,000 spectators had assembled in the afternoon. In the 80 metres women's hurdles race the existing world record held by the German Fräulein Englehard with 11.6 seconds was duplicated by Barbara Burke, a South African girl living in England.

After her victory Miss Burke said "I was just as much surprised as overjoyed at my performance. With equally strong competitors I might be able to lower the present world record this year."

In the long jump Lutz Long of Leipzig improved the German record of 7.82 metres to 7.90 metres. The second German record was set up by Rudolf Harbig of Dresden who ran the 400 metres in 47.6 seconds.

LADY TENNIS PLAYER LEAVING

Miss Alison Mackenzie, a prominent lady tennis player of the Kowloon Cricket Club, will sail for Birmingham, on September 11, where she will take up a secretarial appointment.

Miss Mackenzie, for the past two years, has played regularly in the club's senior mixed doubles league team and has played with some success in the annual tournaments. Last year she won the mixed doubles handicap and was runner-up in the ladies' singles championship and the handicap singles. In the current tournament she has advanced to the final of the handicap singles and the semi-final of the championship.

BADMINTON PLAYER

She is also well-known in Hong Kong as one of the leading lady badminton players. She was among the first to take up the game at the K.C.C., and later she played in the league for Kowloon Tong and last season for Free Lancers. She has figured in a number of representative games including the Hong Kong v. Shanghai match in 1936 and in exhibition matches at the Association's Presentation Nights.

U.S. BASEBALL RESULTS

Boston Blanked

New York, Aug. 8.

All three of the leading teams in the National League won again to-day. Chicago blanked Boston, three to nothing, Carleton allowing only one hit.

New York scored ten runs against Pittsburgh's two. Ott hitting a homer, and the remainder of the Giants' crew putting up 12 hits.

Pepper Martin hit a circuit drive for the Cardinals, and Medwick delivered two, allowing St. Louis to win against Philadelphia, three to two.

Cincinnati defeated Brooklyn, six to four.

In the American League, New York played in endless luck. The Yankees' eight hits yielded six runs, and Cleveland's 12 hits, including a homer by Sullivan, were only enough for five.

Chicago and Boston split a doubleheader, the White Sox dropping the opener, six to seven when Higgins homered, taking the night-cap 13 to nothing, when Whitehead pitched and Bonura hit a home run.

Philadelphia twice defeated St. Louis, five to four in the early game, seven to three in the late session, Moses and Johnson hitting homers in the opener, and Moses again in the night-cap.

The Detroit-Washington game was called at the end of the fifth inning, when Tigers led five to one, York having hit a circuit drive.

GOLF

A Great Round

K. V. Braddon and E. H. Chambers, of Beaconsfield, who won the Golf Balls of Stoke with an aggregate of 135 recently, had the extraordinary score of 62 in their first round. The event, a 36 holes four-ball competition, was played on the Old Course of the Stoke Poges Club, near Slough, the scratch score of which is 75 and the par 73.

Braddon and Chambers, who won the tournament in 1933 when it was decided by match-play, did the first nine holes of their morning round in 33 strokes and then came home in 29. Chambers had three 2's, holing from six feet at the third, seven yards at the 11th and scoring his third two at the 18th yards 14th, where he holed out with a mashie niblick shot of more than 120 yards. Braddon, after missing a short putt, for two at the short seventh, had a perfect three at the 12th and sank a three-yrarder, for two, at the 18th. They had only one 5 on their card, that being at the fifth where Braddon pulled his drive into the rough and Chambers "fuffed" his second shot.

Their score was:—

Out 3, 4, 2, 4, 5, 4, 3, 4, 4=33

Home: 4, 2, 3, 4, 2, 4, 2, 4=29/62

This remarkable round left Braddon and Chambers in such a comfortable position that they could afford to take 73 in the afternoon and win by a stroke from A. McClure and A. Hutton, of Wansstead, who had rounds of 87 and 69 for a total of 156. Third place was taken by A. W. Gibbs, of Muswell Hill, and C. J. Anderson, of Northwood, with 70+68=138. R. Sweeney, the amateur champion, and S. Scheffel had a score of 71 in the morning but failed to be among the leaders at the end of the day. In the first round they were out in 38, having taken five at the short seventh. Their homeward half of 33 included a two at the short 16th, where Scheffel sank a putt of 15 feet.

GAS SERVICE FOR ILOILO

The Iloilo Gas Company, an organization which will shortly offer gas service for heating and power to the city of Iloilo, has changed hands from its former owners to the newly organized corporation, E. E. Tobes and Company, Inc. The parties in the transaction were Andres R. Camasura, who represented the former owners of the Iloilo Gas Company, and Mr. E. E. Tobes, who represented E. E. Tobes and Company, Inc., states the "Manila Bulletin".

Along with the transfer of all rights, interests and privileges of the Iloilo Gas Company, E. E. Tobes and Company, Inc., has like-wisely completely taken over all the administrative control of the company. E. E. Tobes and Co., Inc., by virtue of this sale, has also assumed all liabilities previously incurred by the former management. It has been learned that the membership of the board of trustees of the Iloilo Gas Company will be revised and a meeting of all board members will soon be called to discuss the policies and programme of activities of the company under the new administration.

When interviewed Mr. Tobes informed us that all requirements are being met to see that the Iloilo Gas Company is organized strictly in accordance with existing Philippine laws.

NEW MARKET FOR BRITAIN

SALE FOR LUXURY GOODS IN CANADA

U.S. Buyers Who Want The Best

British industry can obtain a new market of a potential annual value of £100,000,000, simply for the asking, according to Dr. D. M. Marvin, Economics Director of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Dr. Marvin has been attending an international conference of bankers in this country and has been studying the plan, which he described to a "Morning Post" representative for the past 12 years.

"At least 20,000,000 Americans visit Canada for holidays each year," he said. "On an average they take out of the country goods of less value than a dollar (45¢) a head. Americans who visit London and Paris, on the other hand, buy goods of an average value of 500 dollars (£100) per head.

"Articles that they buy in Europe are what may be described as 'luxuries'—usually high quality hand-made goods of a type unobtainable in the United States.

NO CRAFTSMEN

"Both America and Canada are 'mass-producing' countries and have practically no craftsmen, skilled hand-workers, such as are to be found in Europe. American visitors to Canada find nothing in the shops different from the stocks of their own stores, and accordingly, they do not buy. If, on the other hand, there were available the high-grade 'luxury' goods which appeal so strongly to them in Europe, I am convinced that they would spend at least £5 per head.

"Canada, if approached by the British Government, would be prepared to give Great Britain preferential tariffs for these luxury goods, and, eventually, at least £100,000,000 worth would be sold to American tourists in Canada each year.

"Most of the American tourists to Canada enter through one of five places. I suggest that the Federation of British Industries should get together the representatives of the luxury trades and that the Government should then approach Canada for tariff concessions. When these have been granted, an exploitation company should be formed to set up stores in each of the five main Canadian towns, for the sale of these goods.

NEW PRICE POLICY

"These stores would create a new price policy in Canada, and existing stores would quickly have to follow suit and sell British luxury goods themselves.

"Similar concessions would have to be given to France, for that country alone produces some of the quality goods which the market would require."

"Most interesting," was the comment of an official of the Federation of British Industries when informed of Dr. Marvin's suggestion.

"The Federation is only too glad," he added, "to follow up any reasonable suggestion for increasing the sale of British goods. We shall take the earliest opportunity of making inquiries on the lines suggested among the producers of luxury goods in this country."

The Secretary of the London Chamber of Commerce, also commented favourably on the plan.

China-South Africa Trade Relations

Mr. A. T. Brennan, Trade Commissioner of the Union of South Africa for the Far East arrived in Shanghai from Japan recently. Upon his arrival the Bureau of Foreign Trade of the Ministry of Industry appointed Mr. Kingwell H. Toba to meet him on board.

It is learned that Mr. Brennan will call on Chinese authorities to discuss the ways and means of opening up further trade relations between the Republic of China and the Union of South Africa.

The distinguished visitor expects to stay in Shanghai for some time before returning to his headquarters at Batavia.

The first international team matches between big game fishermen are announced for September, when teams, representing the United States and the British Empire, will meet in Nova Scotia to fish for giant tuna. The event would be officially known as the "International Tuna Angling Matches" and competition would be open to all nations whose teams met the entrance qualifications established by an international board of governors, it was stated by Reuter. Mr. Angus Macdonald, the premier of Nova Scotia, has accepted an invitation to be honorary chairman of this board, which will set the dates of the competition, draw up regulations and work out general plans for the matches.
